ANY MESSAGE?

"Now, don't forget, Betty Lou," Mrs. Wilson was saying to her little daughter. "If anyone calls while I'm out shopping, I want you to get the full message from them."

"Yes, Mom," said Betty Lou, who was determined to finally do something the right way.

"You tell whoever calls that I'm at the grocery store," said Mrs. Wilson. "You tell them that I'll be back at 4 o'clock."

"And you ask them," Mrs. Wilson went on, "what exactly they want, what they might want me to do, or where I'm supposed to meet them. Can you remember that?"

"Oh, yes, Mom," smiled Betty Lou. She wasn't going to forget a thing this time.

Her mother kissed her good-bye and Betty Lou sat herself right next to the phone as soon as Mrs. Wilson had left the house.

"I really hope someone calls," Betty Lou said to herself. "I'm going to make Mom real proud of me."

And her wish came true with a loud ring of the phone.

"Hello," said Betty Lou as she picked up the receiver.

"Hello. Betty Lou?" said the voice at the other end.

"Yes. And my mother went to the grocery store and will be back at 4 o'clock."

"Oh," chuckled the caller. "I see your mother has really prepared you for telephone calls."

"She certainly has," answered Betty Lou. "What exactly do you want? Is there something you want my mother to do for you? Do you want her to meet you somewhere?"

Betty Lou felt proud of herself. She had asked everything she was supposed to.

"You just tell your mother that I'd like you people to come to supper tomorrow night. And to be over at about six o'clock."

"Fine," said Betty Lou, "and thank you very much." She hung up with a smile. She had gotten the message perfectly.

As soon as Mrs. Wilson came home, she asked Betty Lou: "Did I receive any phone calls?"

Betty Lou nodded, and beamed proudly. "Yes, Mom," she said. "And I took the message down perfectly. We have been invited for dinner tomorrow night and we're to be there at six o'clock."

"Oh, how nice!" said Mrs. Wilson. "And who invited us?"

Betty Lou's face dropped. Her feelings sagged. And then tears began to fall. "In trying to remember all I was supposed to ask," she cried, "I forgot to ask her name!"

Casper's Diary

Dear Diary:

I'm going to let my friends take over my message to you today. I want you to read some of the wonderful things that I have to say. They say it so beautifully, too.

From Gary Stielow, Des Moines, Iowa:

"Dear Casper -- I want to tell you how much I enjoy your movies, comics and your diaries. I read your diaries the first thing of all. I like the articles on friendship. I've started a club called the Friendly Casper Club."

From Barbara Zimmer, of Louisville, Ky:

"Dear Casper -- I enjoy your diary and your comic very much. I am going to write a story about you soon."

From Mrs. Elza Addair, of Clauson, Mich:

"Dear Casper -- I have read almost all of your comic books and like them a lot. I think they are the sweetest and cutest things I have ever seen and read. I have a little boy, one year old, and he has just started looking at comic books. I buy yours all the time. He calls you a doll, and my husband, sisters and brothers like you also. Keep up the good work."

From Rebecca Crawley, of McAlester, Okla:

Dear Casper -- My cousin and I have a reading club. Every week we make a report of what we read and what comics we like best. My cousin, Susan Kellar, Margarette Brenon and myself all reported we liked your comics best of all. So the rest of the children read your books and Susy, the vice-president, said that we should just read your comics. Everybody agreed with that so your comics are all we read. The other members of the club are Judy Collins, Debra Parker, June Marie Long, Sherry Allison, Beverly Howell and Karan Horne."

From Carol De Frances of Baltimore, Md:

"Dear Casper -- As you know, you are most children's best comic character and my favorite. You are loved by every child in the United States. I started a Friendly Casper Club. Don't forget, if you need help, call on one of us. The other members are Betty Lou Hill, Joan Sferkas, Ingrid Koskinen, Carol Snell and Cynthia Sperry."

And there was more wonderful mail from people like:- Susan Moise, of Worcester, Mass; Yvonne Lemaire, of Norwich, N.Y.; Brooke Preston, of Detroit, Mich; Billy Archibald, of Beaufort, S.C.; Barry Maram, of Chicago, Ill; Frances and Billy Feezell, of Brooklyn, N.Y.; Linda Tucker, of Mountain Home, Idaho; Brenda Burnett, of Spartanburg, S.C.; Nady Ortega, of New York City, N.Y.; Merle King, of Alberta, Canada; Billy Willing, of Baltimore, Md., and so many others.

Please thank everyone for me, Dear Diary.

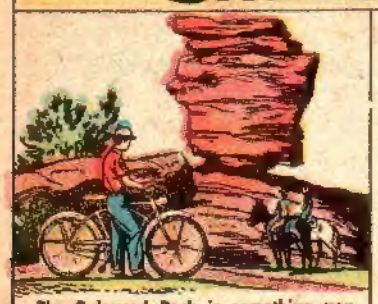
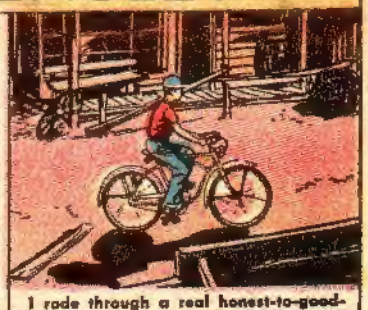
"I bike-hiked through COLORADO on my SHELBY GOLDEN EAGLE!"



The Balanced Rock is something you have to see to believe—it looks like it's going to topple over any minute!

It was easy pedaling on my Shelby to a husky dog farm at Castle Creek Basin. Huskies are real friendly and playful.



I rode through a real honest-to-goodness ghost town—Ashcroft. I felt "creepy"—as though eyes were watching.

My last stop was Pike's Peak—towering 14,100 feet in the air. What a thrill it would be to coast down it on my Shelby!

SHELBY Golden Eagle

Shelby's Golden Eagle gives you easiest pedaling on bike hikes! With the Bendix multi-speed brake you shift into low gear on the hills—and into high gear on level ground. And it has the streamlined, extra strong frame you find on all Shelby bikes.

TOMMY SALLY

With your new Shelby you get a FREE LICENSE PLATE with your own name on it!
